What we're covering in this tutorial

- Some of the ways the Library can help you during your time at the U of I
- The Library Catalog and Academic Search Premier

Circulation Desk

- Located on the first floor of the Library
- Where you go to check-out physical items such as books and DVDs as well as technology items like headphones, phone and laptop chargers, and photography or video equipment
- All you need is your Vandal ID, which works as your Library card
- Visit <https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/services/borrow/> to learn more about the Circulation Desk

Reference Desk

- The place to ask any questions about using the library and conducting research
- Staffed during regular business hours, Monday – Friday; answer virtual chats asked via the ‘Ask Us’ or ‘24/7 chat’ buttons
- If we aren’t available, you can still ask a question via chat, 24/7, and be connected to a librarian at another university
- Visit <https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/help/> to learn more about the Reference Desk

Research Assistance Meetings

- Meet with a librarian and get individualized help
- Visit <https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/help/research.html> to request a meeting

Group and Individual Study Rooms

- Visit <https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/services/rooms.html> to see the Library's reservable group and individual study rooms
- All reservable group and individual study rooms are available on a first come, first served basis if there are no reservations scheduled

Vandals Tutoring and Writing Center

- Located on the second floor of the Library

- Writing Center: <https://www.uidaho.edu/class/writing-center>

MILL and Studio

- Studio (Audiovisual Lab): <https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/studio/>

Boolean

- Specific words and symbols that tell the Library or related resource more about what we want to see in our results list
- Search strings are created when we combine the keywords related to our topics using these Boolean words and symbols

Boolean review (1)

- “Quotation marks”
- AND in all capital letters

Boolean review (2)

- “Quotation marks”
 - When using quotation marks, each result will contain the exact phrase included in the quotes
 - For example, a search for “rural communities” would ensure that every result mentions that exact phrase.

Boolean review (3)

- AND in all capital letters
 - When using AND in all capital letters, each result will contain all keywords connected by AND
 - For example, a search for gender AND employment AND wages would ensure that every result mentions the words gender, employment, and wages

Off-campus access

- Distance students can still access the Library's print books by 'requesting' them within the catalog
- A copy of the book is then mailed to your home address
 - Email libcirc@uidaho.edu to confirm your home address
- Visit https://libguides.uidaho.edu/Distance_Education to learn more about using the University of Idaho Library as a distance student

Summit library program

- Summit allows you to check-out physical items owned by libraries at other Northwest colleges and universities and pick them at the University of Idaho Library
 - If you are a distance student, you can also have them delivered to your home address
- You can usually check-out Summit items for an initial 6 weeks and then you can request a renewal if you need the item longer
 - Renewals are not automatic, and you will receive an email if it is approved

Learn more about peer-review

- Peer-review
 - Experts in a discipline assess the validity and quality of articles, books, book chapters, etc. that have been submitted for publication
 - Many professors and instructors who work at colleges and universities have volunteered to serve as peer-reviewers for journals and book publishers within their areas of expertise.

Interlibrary Loan service

- Interlibrary Loan (ILL) is a service that allows you to request electronic and physical copies of items held by libraries around the world
- Interlibrary Loan (ILL) can help you get PDF copies of articles, physical copies of books that neither we nor our Summit partners have in our collections, PDFs of book chapters, and many other types of items.

Test your knowledge
